

EX NIHILO NIHIL FIT

I - HULLS

For whatever reason (TBD), both parties meet nightside of the jumpgate at Madoc. Not very far, but enough (2AU) to have business in there without fear of scrutiny.

CAST

- Aedan Volund
- Emilio Suarez de Hazat
- Nahema Raziolda
- Marx Whenger
- Marcus Zemeckis

I.1 CAMPAIGNS CROSSOVER

Obviously, there are many reasons that would bring the players together.

There will be an opportunity to start everything out with two reeves present at Galicia station that will be willing (with a few financial retribution). Each of them will hold representation of both House Li Halan and the Clockwork Guild.

I.1.1 Talamud

The Tarentula has been ruthlessly attacked by a Talamud force just exiting the jumpgate. Six of the twelve attacking ships have been destroyed by the Tarentula, but at an huge price: a fatal blow to the main deck took the life of Shamij Al-Jabra and three other people.

Brothers in Arms

- Dealing with the corpses of the fallen: two main options:
- 50f to send them to their destination through a guild transport. 60f with escort
- Church/Avestites: 10f, purification by fire.

I.1.2 The Vulture

What about Hyo-Jin Kirin ?

I.1.3 The Alliance

The meeting between the two parties happens in deep space, just beyond the jumpgate, where the Rapier (Stalker Hazat Explorer, Royale House Hazat), out of navigation and propulsion system is about to have its core either imploding or running out of energy, condemning the lives of the remaining crew.

Suddenly, a ship comes out of nowhere (easy because of global system failure) belly facing . This is the Tarentula (Viper Decados Corvette, Merchant League), which has suffer even more from the Talamund attack but has managed to burst its opponent. The situation inside the viper class spaceship is even, worse than inside the rapier: the central cortex has taken back command of the piloting of the ship (previously fully controlling the many weapons of the ship) after an explosion on the bridge that took back its commander and pilot.

On the outside of the ship, two people that were fixing an issue just before the attack, Marx Whenger and Marcus Zemeckis. The last passed away a few minutes ago after being shot by debris, and Marx has just manage to plug a shared air connection with his mate and magnetically root his spacesuit to the ship.

I.1.4 What we have so far

Celestial Ships

Two starships are actually available, the Tarentula (Viper Decados Corvette, Merchant League) and the Rapier (Stalker Hazat Explorer, Royale House Hazat).

What happened with her father's spacecraft. The new nav assistant device..

- The ship is actually en route to Istakhr from Midian. Handled by a trusted officer, Captain Milos Antioch from the Charioteers. It's charioteer internal business: they bring back the ship to destination and benefit from the trip 3 guys hosted by Antioch)
- The Tien Long was full of Jackson stuff, everything has been left as is.

Marcus

The sex scene with Sofia. Like on Byzantium Secundus. Except the view is false: there are no gigantic appartments in the imperial city for commoners. And Sofia naked is fake. Because he never saw her naked. There is no

Aedan

The little Lyonesse workshop is protected. Allonso juste brought you back to life.

What the fuck with that garlic smell. And what the fuck with the ship movement. It was a sign we might be done...

I.2 GALICIA STATION

Description

This imperial station is under Guild command. The actual officer in chief is Liothar Federiksen. He is assisted by a noble, Filip Trusnikron, an expert at taming space species. Federiksen current XO is a serious solider, Greta Dargos. The station crew is around 150 men, 80 of them being Galicia Marines, the others technical people. The last are managed by Jed Berkhof. The Medical officer is Evie Grant

People of note in Galicia Station...

- Elmir Gushand, an al-Malik Noble knight, space stations enthusiast. He is here with two entourage, Silvestro Sund and Elis Farhar

I.2.1 Clockwork news

Galicia Station is the Imperial Relay, so it will be easy from here to cast and receive messages off system. The current Imperial Courier officer is Barnab Klossom. This old captain is working independently of the station activity. He has no real authority, but enjoy the benefits of diplomatical immunity.

I.2.2 The End of the Search

On Midian, Augustus Zhu Li Halan has send a message asking to all forces to stop their search effort. He now considers that the chances to find the foes is too small and that if some of the ships desire to continue their search, they will have to do it by their own means. He will only be able to send them a letter of Marque indicating that all Li Halan Forces will have to facilitate their mission.

Among all ships that started the search, more than three dozens, only 6 will remain on duty, waiting for their letter of Marque:

- Lady Eshib Al-Malik
- Lady Liença Ostrovicz Decados & Lieutenant-Colonel Shu
- Sir Hatoro Li Halan & Captain Takami
- Sir Lee Bai Kirin Li Halan
- Sir Sedrick Buckingham Hawkwood
- Sir Roderick Tramel Justinian

I.3 REPAIRS

Both ships will need repairs. To take care of, this, the best solution is to reach the imperial Space station orbiting at 6 AU from the jumpgate.

3.1 KNOWN WORLDS

3.1.0 Imperial Legions

The 12 Legions

200k men each (one tribune lead each legion, four admirals below)

- Diamond (Byzantium Secundus)
- Emerald (Tethys)
- Sapphire (Icon)
- Ruby (Icon)
- Amethyst (Stigmata)
- Obsidian (Hira)
- Malachite (Nowhere)
- Opal (Leminkainen)
- Citrine (Hargard)
- Onyx (Bannockburn)
- Jade (Stigmata)
- Carnelian (Nowhere)

Details

Each legion has:

- 4 armies of 50k. Each army has 20% of men used for logistics (food, installation, spaceships maintenance. They are called the builder-corps, and each of them is one of the 5 regiments of 10k men. Very few soldiers from the builder-corps are levies. The importance of this regiment pushes the empire to a maximum efficiency in here.
- Each legion has enough spacecrafts to stay in a system for one month without touching ground (or even a space station). In Fading Suns, the biggest ships are dreadnought and can host at full capacity 200 crew and passengers.
- Typical legion hierarchy

3.1.2 The Larray civil war

Context

4967 to 4984 (17 years): a bloody internal conflict inside House Juandaastas that almost managed to split the house in two parts. On one side, the Faroe, Vertias, Maugreb, Pollek and Talias branches as the liberals, on the other the main branch and the other branches as the conservatives. The liberals wanted to grant the native oro'ym free access to the whole planet (as anyway we cannot control in the depth where the aliens do go), and the others wanted to keep them in reservation to avoid further repression by the then leaders of the system (Mandel Von Hosten of the Charioteers).

Consequences

Nobody ever did give their word on the subject (neither oro'ym or guilders), but the difference of point of view created a real schism inside the house for unclear reasons.

Gamemaster Notes

The real point is that at this time the house was already infiltrated by the Invisible Path, and the coven launched a campaign of mind alteration to make the then ruler of Shezaba Depth looking elsewhere. This allowed the Path to get from the Iuri Plateau (in Shezaba depth) exactly what they wanted.

Historian and specialists of House Juandastaas would all agree on the subject (with degree 3+): Nothing make sens in this conflict, and some forces from the outside were responsible of this. (For religious people, obviously their soul has been tainted by darkness). The last victim from the Path direct influence and mind manipulation was Fritz Faroe Juandaastas. Larray was a Oceanic station that was at that time under full control of House Juandaastas. The station is still in use these days, but the mid levels are said to be haunted.
